Dear Parents and Carers,

As you may remember, a few months ago, we had an engineering week here in school with children entering the Primary Engineer Competition to create a new invention.

As part of this, children participated in online webinars with real life engineers, they asked questions, they investigated different inventions and then they created their own.

I am so very proud to announce that we had 66 children receiving special certificates, 16 children receiving Merit Awards for their designs and 6 children receiving Distinctions for their designs.

2 overall winners were chosen from each year group for each region in the UK. For the Northwest, I am so very proud that BOTH winners are from English Martyrs'!

Huge congratulations to...

Kacey Taylor (Year 6) for her winning design for an Eczema Pad 9000

and

Lilian Ezeani (Year 6) for her winning design for an Emotions Sensor.

What total superstars! Both the girls and their families will be attending a special awards evening at UCLan next Wednesday evening.

Well done children, I am so very proud of you both!

Kind regards,

Annalisa Howarth
